

Leadership Profile

Jan Martin Corporate Compliance Officer

Jan Martin joined the Cornell Scott-Hill Health Center leadership team in April of 2010, stepping into the critical role of Corporate Compliance Officer. In that role, Jan not only establishes standards and procedures aimed at reducing and eliminating illegal, unethical and improper conduct, but also works vigorously to ensure that the health center's staff is educated on all corporate compliance matters.

Prior to joining the Cornell Scott-Hill Health Center, Jan served as the corporate compliance coordinator and clinical auditor for Norwalk Hospital in Norwalk, Connecticut. There, Jan established and supervised the hospital's corporate compliance program. Currently, Jan is co-chairing the compliance committee for the Community Health Center Association of Connecticut.

In addition to her corporate compliance experience, Jan brings an impressive array of skills to her position including:

- Hospital operations
- Patient finance
- Clinical auditing
- HIPPA compliance and education
- Occupational health management
- Health information management

Jan's breadth and depth of knowledge has been gained throughout her time as a health care leader. Previously, Jan worked as the director of health information management for Silver Hill Hospital in New Canaan, Connecticut. As the director, Jan led all initiatives related to medical records, information systems, quality improvement, and HIPPA compliance and education. Prior to that, she was the corporate manager of occupational health for the Witco Corporation in Greenwich, Connecticut.

Additionally, Jan has served as a senior healthcare consultant, working with clients across the country on issues such as quality assurance, revenue cycle management, The Joint Commission accreditation, and electronic health record implementation.

However, Jan's experience goes beyond health care. She is actively involved in her community, serving as a volunteer for several organizations including the Historical Society. Jan also took her favorite hobby—needlepoint—and turned it into a successful business, which she ran for many years.

Jan received her B.S. degree in health care management as well as an M.S. in Health Administration and an M. S. in long term care management from Iona College in New Rochelle, New York.
